FOUR MINERS KILLED WHEN ROOF OF COAL COMPANY MINE FALLS

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 10.—Four miners are dead here, and another is in a critical condition in a Welch hospital today as the result of a slate roof cave-in at the Keystone Coal and Coke Co.'s mine late Thursday.

The dead are: Joe Tatazaro, William Braddon and Moxie Hooks, all white, and Grady Crider, negro. Henry Griffin is suffering internal injuries, two broken limbs and a crushed foot.

The men were clearing the main entry to the mine, preparatory to resuming operations today, a support was removed, releasing a fifty-ton slab of slate from the ceiling.

This is the third fatal accident in McDowell County in the past four weeks.

WILL ELECTROCUTE TWO PRISONERS AS CLEMENCY REFUSED

John Hickman And Geo. Vargo To Die In Chair

COLUMBUS, O., June 10.—Warden P. E. Thomas was making preparations at the penitentiary here today for the double electrocution tonight of John Hickman, Columbus, and George Vargo, Lake County, following the refusal of the state clemency board and Gov. Donahay to intervene.

In its recommendation to the governor in Hickman's case, the board declared its unwillingness to disagree with findings of five courts, and also took into consideration the alleged confession of J. E. Long, Huntington, W. Va., suicide who according to Mrs. Cora Booth, fortune teller, told her he had killed a patrolman at Chillicothe, shortly before taking his own life.

Hickman was found guilty of the first degree murder of Dan Garrett, Chillicothe policeman. Mont Hickman, his brother is serving a life sentence as a result of the same crime.

A board of physicians, at the request of Gov. Donahay, submitted Vargo to a mental test and declared him sane. He was convicted of killing his landlady after which his appeal was carried to the state supreme court.

Philip Orleck, alias William Fox, sentenced to die tonight for the murder of a Mansfield reformatory guard, was granted a stay of execution a few days ago, to allow the supreme court to review his case.

OHIO WOMAN DIES AT ENGLISH HOME

LONDON, June 10.—Announcement was made today of the death of Mrs. Victoria Clifton Woodhill Martin, an American woman, at her home, Bredons, Norton Park, near Cheltenham. She died last night.

Mrs. Martin was a native of Homer, Ohio, where she was born Sept. 23, 1888. She was one of the pioneers in the woman suffrage movement and in 1917 memorialized the American congress for the ballot for women. Two years later she was nominated for president of the United States by the equal rights party. She had written a number of books on social and political subjects and at the time of her death she was editor of the Humanitarian magazine in this city. Mrs. Martin was married twice, her second husband being an Englishman.

COSHOCTON HAS SMALLPOX CASES

COSHOCTON, O., June 10.—A third case of smallpox was reported here today, and attributed directly to Troy, O., where several hundred were exposed during a convention of the Church of the Nazarene.

Of 45 Coshocton County residents who attended services here with persons returning from Troy, forty-four have been vaccinated. One woman has refused vaccination and is under quarantine.

The smallpox patients here are Rev. A. H. Perry and wife, of the Church of the Nazarene, and Wilbur Wright, 10, son of Ray Wright, church singer, who also attended the Troy meeting.

IRISH FREE STATE WINS ELECTION

DUBLIN, June 10.—The Irish free state government, headed by President Cosgrave, is believed to have won a working majority in the general election which was held yesterday.

Due to the complexities of proportional representation the full count can not be completed before Monday, but there is confidence that the government support was strong enough to insure a working majority in the Dail.

Fliers Showered With Invitations To Other Capitals

BERLIN, June 10.—Thousands lined the sidewalks of Unter Den Linden today and cheered vociferously as Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine rode in state with United States Ambassador Schurman to the city hall, where the two fliers were made honorary citizens of Berlin.

A warm sun shone down on the fliers and the reception they received from the crowds was as enthusiastic as any given them since their arrival here.

Mayor Boess received the fliers at the city hall and offered them an official welcome. He paid them high tribute for their feat in establishing a new long distance flight, and then presented them with medals from the city of Berlin commemorating the event.

Both fliers were then called upon to sign the golden book, adding their names to a long list of names which rank high in history.

Ambassador Schurman replied to the German mayor's address on behalf of the two fliers.

"Like Lindbergh, Chamberlin has shown the world by his brave deed that crossing the ocean in airplanes is possible for men of energy and determination," said the ambassador.

"The establishment of regular and safe air-service between Europe and America is the high goal to which we must now lend all our energies. The time is near when constructors will build great airplanes equipped with motors of the necessary capacity, which will make the journey in any kind of weather and provide the greatest degree of safety."

"The field is open to all nations. No one can foresee which nation may make the next step. The rivalry is certain to be keen. Let the meritorious win the prize."

Chamberlin and Levine today visited the Rohrbach Metal Airplane Co. They studied the work in progress there and displayed great interest in it.

"It was a glimpse into the future," said Chamberlin. "They are ahead of us. They have simplified all-metal construction and made it practicable. Our types are much lighter, because with us metal construction is too expensive."

Chamberlin and Levine today descended upon Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine.

The invitations for the two fliers to visit countries surrounding Germany have become so pressing that it has become evident that unless the invitations are accepted, an unpleasant atmosphere of international jealousy will be created.

As the sale was underwritten by the National Surety Company, it is expected that the court will accept the bid, especially as Joyce is the son of the general manager of the surety company.

Highest individual bid on the Mansfield plant was $75,000 against a valuation of $172,000; on the Willoughby plant, $60,000 on an appraised valuation of $102,000, and on the Bucyrus plant, $350,000 on a valuation of $1,677,600.

STEEL PLANT BIDS BELOW APPRAISED VALUE OF COMPANY

Amounts Not Large Enough To Cover Government Claim

BUCYRUS, O., June 10.—Bid of $510,000 for the Mansfield, Willoughby and Bucyrus plants of the Hadfield-Penfield Steel Company, submitted late Thursday for M. O. Garner by Morgan Dean Joyce, New York, and lesser bids, were being forwarded to the federal court at Cleveland.

The bid represents approximately one fifth of the appraised value of the plants, and one third of the government's claim which resulted in the present receivership action.

As the sale was underwritten by the National Surety Company, it is expected that the court will accept the bid, especially as Joyce is the son of the general manager of the surety company.

MOTHER OF "LINDY" AVOIDS ATTENTION

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Apparently desirous of escaping the capital's attention until the arrival here tomorrow of her son, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of the trans-Atlantic flyer, "disappeared" today enroute from Detroit to Washington.

Mrs. Lindbergh was on a Washington-bound train due here at 8:30 a. m. but she left the train hurriedly a short distance outside of Baltimore entered a waiting motor and vanished. It was not a White House car.

The White House was in dark concerning her plans, it was said, although she will be a guest there over the weekend. It is understood Mrs. Lindbergh planned to spend the day in Baltimore with friends.

AKRON, O., June 10.—Saying she could not drink water and that coffee made her sick, Mrs. Bernard Lehr, explained to a municipal judge that it was absolutely necessary for her to make home brew. Fine $100 and costs.

PROPOSAL TO SELL MONOPOLY BEATEN

PARIS, June 10.—The chamber of deputies today rejected Premier Poincaré's proposal that the French match monopoly be sold to a Swedish firm for $80,000,000 by a vote of 281 to 243.

The measure was not one of confidence, but it is considered as a political check to the premier, and the stiffest rebuff he has received since he took office.

The premier had asked that the monopoly be granted so that France might have the $80,000,000 available for use in negotiating a settlement of the debt to the United States.

De Pinedo resumes trip from Azores

HORTA, Azores, June 10.—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian inter-continental flyer, left Horta at 6:20 o'clock today on the continuation of his flight back home to Italy.

De Pinedo planned to return to the spot in the Atlantic Ocean several hundred miles off the Azores where he was forced down and had to take on fuel; then continue on his way to Lisbon. Weather conditions here were perfect.

BYRD PLANS ROUND TRIP ACROSS OCEAN

NEW YORK, June 10.—

Naval Commander Richard E. Byrd, the only aviator who ever flew a plane over the North Pole, plans to outfit even Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Clarence D. Chamberlin in the way of trans-Atlantic flights, it was learned today.

Byrd intends to fly to Paris in his great tri-motor Fokker monoplane, then immediately fly back again.

At the most his stay in the French capital will be scarcely more than twelve hours just enough time for the American and his fellow flyers to take a restful sleep and have the America's gasoline tanks filled up again.

Hence, if Clarence Chamberlin and his flight companion, Charles A. Levine, expect to be the first to fly from continental Europe to New York, they will have to "step out" speedily.

Chamberlin and Levine now have under consideration an offer of $100,000 from William Randolph Hearst to fly from Berlin to New York.

Meanwhile, Commander Byrd has completed his final tests. His great Fokker plane has responded to a load of more than 14,500 pounds. So spectacular was this achievement to Byrd and his associates that they immediately decided to risk an additional 100 gallons of gasoline, weighing 600 pounds.

She will carry a weight of 15,500 pounds—something hitherto unheard of in trans-Atlantic aviation.

Lindbergh flew off in a plane weighing gross 5,130 pounds. The Chamberlin and Levine machine weighed all over 5,400 pounds.

In the America's cabin with Byrd will be Bert Acosta, one of the holders of the world's endurance record, and Lieutenant George Noville, flight engineer.

It is extremely likely that soon after Colonel Lindbergh sets foot on American soil and receives his official honors, Byrd will give the signal for his own flight.

Washington In Gala Array For Arrival Of Famous Flyer

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The drone of motors of a great air armada, music to every aviator, will herald the nation's joyous home-coming for Charles A. Lindbergh to-day.

While the sleek cruiser Memphis was speeding in a smooth sea with the youthful hero of the New York to Paris flight, the welcoming vanguard composed of the giant dirigible Los Angeles, a dozen airplanes and six destroyers planned to set out to meet her off the Virginia capes.

Vice-Admiral Burrage wired the navy department that Lindbergh, scanning the horizon from the bridge of the Memphis, would sight land early in the afternoon.

Before sundown he will be well within the waters of Chesapeake Bay with hundreds of small water craft joining in the welcome that will precede official reception by President Coolidge in behalf of the nation on Saturday.

From the Los Angeles the spic and span uniform of the new color in the Missouri National Guard will be dropped aboard the Memphis from Los Angeles, while the first actual contact will be established when Richard R. Blythe, a St. Louis friend, leaves a destroyer to join "Lindy" aboard the cruiser.

Expect Mazer Will Receive Leniency For Aiding Police

Informer May Get Light Sentence — Pleads Guilty

CANTON, O., June 10.—Louis Mazer, who saved himself from the shadow of the electric chair by turning informer against his former pal, ex-detective Floyd E. Streitberger, was to appear today before Common Pleas Judge A. W. Agler for sentence of an indictment returned against him last degree murder, in connection with the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canfield publisher.

Mazer may plead guilty to either second degree murder or manslaughter, made possible in the indictment returned against him last August, and is expected to receive a short term in Ohio penitentiary, according to all indications.

The promised leniency is the result of Mazer's confession which led to the conviction of Streitberger and later, through a confession by Streitberger, to the indictment of former police chief S. A. Lengel.

Pronouncement of sentence upon Mazer, scheduled for Thursday, was delayed.

Lengel, who was arrested late Wednesday after a special Stark County grand jury had returned a first degree murder indictment against him, is scheduled to be arraigned Saturday. Trial date is expected to be set for July 5.

The ousted chief, charged with being one of the "high-ups" who it is alleged, deceived that Mellett must die, made himself at home in Stark County jail here today. He spent most of Thursday playing cards with fellow prisoners. He is occupying cell No. 10, on the first floor, the one in which Streitberger was placed during his trial last month.

The flier on Sunday will visit the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington, chat with disabled veterans at Walter Reed hospital, probably attend church with President and Mrs. Coolidge, receive the Cross of Honor of the American Legion Association and attend a reception of the Missouri State Society.

Twenty-one pursuit planes from Selfridge Field, Mich., led by Major Thomas G. Lamphier complete the armada of eighty-five army, navy, marine corps and mail airplanes which will circle about the Memphis on her way up the Potomac River Saturday.

Distinguished aviators who will personally welcome "Lindy" include Commander Richard Byrd, polar flier; Lieut. Russell L. Maughan, hero of the dawn-to-dusk flight; Lieut. James H. Doolittle, only man to make an "outside loop"; Commander Albert C. Read, who crossed the Atlantic in the famous NC-4 flight of the navy and Lieut. Oakley G. Kelly and Lieut. James A. Macready, famous cross country fliers; Robert Nungesser, brother of Capt. Charles Nungesser, pilot of the ill-fated "White Bird," will be a member of the reception committee.

VIRGINIA REPORTS FEELING TREMOR

RICHMOND, Va., June 10.—A pronounced shock, believed to have been an earthquake, shook Richmond at 2:17 o'clock this morning.

Houses were rocked, window panes rattled, and many residents were roused from their beds. Apparently, however, no damage was done.

The shock was at first believed to have been caused by an explosion of some kind, but later other portions of Virginia reported feeling it.

REPORT 420 CHINESE DROWNED FLEEING NATIONALIST ARMY

SHANGHAI, June 10.—About 420 Chinese were drowned in a little lake west of Pechu, Anhwei province, while in flight before the Nationalist army which occupied the town according to a dispatch from Nanking today. In addition to the capture of the town the Nationalists claim to have taken many prisoners and much booty, routing the northern army that was defending the place.

Nationalist chiefs announce that a battle for possession of lynching is imminent.

The marriage of Miss Julia Peterson, S. Detroit St., and Mr. Courtland H. Fenton, formerly of Lime Rock, Conn., was quietly solemnized at the parsonage of the First Reformed Church, the Rev. D. A. Sellers, officiating, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The couple was unattended for the single ring ceremony. The bride was attired in an ensemble of tan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenton will reside in Dayton. They left Thursday night for a wedding trip in the east. Mrs. Fenton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Petersen, S. Detroit St.

WORLD TOUR SUBJECT OF W. C. T. U. ADDRESS.

Their visit to the battlefields of France and the sunrise service Easter morning at Honolulu were graphically described by Mrs. D. W. Cosley, at the South Side W. C. T. U. meeting, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Sanders, Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was well attended. Mrs. Sanders served a dainty refreshment course and a social time was spent.

PARTY IN SPRINGFIELD

Mrs. J. H. Littell, W. Second St., entertained fourteen guests for luncheon at the Springfield Country Club, Friday. The affair was in compliment to Mrs. Robert Sands, San Gabriel, Cal., guest of Mrs. Meda Gowdy; Mrs. Lucille Faye, this city, who is sailing soon for a tour of Europe and Mrs. Clara Littell, Indianapolis, Ind., who is visiting Mrs. Mary M. Meredith.

Miss Elizabeth Graham, Monmouth, Ill., and Miss Freda Mills, physical director of the public schools at Monmouth, whose home is in Warren, O., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Bryson, Clifton Pike, Thursday. They were enroute to Washington, D. C., and Miss Mary Elizabeth Bryson accompanied them. After a visit at the Capitol several days the party will return to the Bryson home.

Dorothy Clemmer, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Clemmer, fractured her right wrist when she fell at St. Brigid School, Thursday.

Mr. J. O. McDorman, of the McDorman-Crawford Co., spent Wednesday in Cincinnati on business, and was accompanied by Mrs. McDorman, Miss Mary Elizabeth McDorman and Willis McDorman.

On their return from Western College for Women, Oxford, O., Thursday, Mrs. Mary M. Meredith and Mrs. Emily Tremaine, attended the exhibit of paintings of Mrs. J. Otis Adams, at her studio in Brookville. The exhibit included the late Mr. Adams' landscapes and Mrs. Adams' still-life work.

Miss Mary Caroline Smith, who attends William and Mary College, Richmond, Va., arrived home Friday to spend the summer with her parents, Attorney and Mrs. Harry D. Smith.

Mr. Lawrence Prugh, Knoxville, Tenn., will arrive Saturday to spend the week end with his parents, Mayor and Mrs. John W. Prugh. He will also attend the birthday dinner of his grandfather, Mr. E. P. Hooven, Sunday.

Mr. Horace Smith, son of Attorney and Mrs. Harry D. Smith, N. Galloway St., sailed from Hoboken, N. J., Friday for France and Germany to spend two months, studying the languages of those countries. Mr. Smith has just graduated from Swarthmore University, Swarthmore, Pa., and expected to take up special work in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Watt left Friday morning for Pittsburgh, Pa., to join their son, Mr. Kenneth Watt and will motor on to Boston, for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Charles Benson, at West Newton, Mass. They expect to be gone ten days.

Mrs. Frank B. Scott, W. Second St., has gone to Springfield, Ill., to spend two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Kate Plowman.

COMMISSION IGNORES ACTION ON GAS ORDINANCE PETITION

City Commission ignored taking action on a petition seeking repeal of an ordinance recently enacted, granting the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. increased revenue from Xenta consumers for the next two years, at its meeting Thursday night.

It was the last regular meeting of the body before the expiration of the thirty-day period following filing of the petition, during which the commission can reconsider the measure and avoid a referendum vote.

MAYOR WANTS FLAGS FLOWN SATURDAY

Mayor John W. Prugh, in a statement issued Friday, asks that flags be flown in front of business houses Saturday in tribute to Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, hero of the air and idol of the world, who arrives home Saturday, to be acclaimed for his achievement in making the first non-stop continent to continent flight.

Mayor Prugh is also behind a move to plan some form of celebration on the occasion that Lindbergh stops at Dayton sometime next week on his proposed flight in "The Spirit of St. Louis" we from New York to St. Louis.

The mayor thinks a delegation of Xenians should motor to Dayton and greet the air hero.

DR. MARSHALL BEST TO PRACTICE HERE

Dr. W. A. Galloway, well-known Xenia physician, is announcing that Dr. Marshall Best, Xenia, will be associated with him in the practice of medicine after July 1.

Dr. Best is now completing his year's internship at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton. He graduated from Central High School and Denison University, Granville, before completing his medical studies at the college of medicine, University of Cincinnati, where he graduated last year.

Dr. Best is the son of Mrs. Carrie G. Best, this city. Dr. Galloway is a prominent member of the profession in Greene County having practiced here many years.

MANY CANDIDATES TO SUCCEED SHANK

The City Board of Education is considering a long list of candidates who have made application to succeed Principal Spencer Shank, of Central High School, who resigned to renew university studies.

Nearly thirty applicants are after the position, several of whom stand out prominently on the list.

The school board has taken no action but will probably hold a special meeting in a week or so at the call of the president, to elect a principal.

OVERLOADED AUTO TARGET OF POLICE

Police Chief M. E. Graham is cautioning motorists against the use of their automobiles to be over-crowded—common practice of permitting an offense which amounts toreckless driving, he declares.

For safety's sake, drivers should not allow persons to "hang on" the sides of their machines, he points out.

Police condemn the practice and are endeavoring to put to stop to it.

Betrothed

Mrs. O. R. Jones has returned to her home at Alpha after undergoing an operation for goiter at the Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, two weeks ago.

The Rev. F. H. Landgrave, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, who has been severely ill with smallpox, has passed the crises and is now on the road to recovery. The disease proved to be of a more serious nature than was first thought.

Miss Helen Whittington, this city, will be one of the graduates and was a member of the Student Nurses' Choir, at the commencement exercises of Good Samaritan Hospital Nurses' Training School, Cincinnati, Tuesday, June 14, in the hospital auditorium at Clifton. Archbishop John T. Nicholas will deliver the commencement sermon and the address will be given by Frederick W. Hinkle, chairman of the board of advisors of the hospital.

END TO LIBERTY

Blue law enforcement in Baltimore which takes the form of arresting a householder who was trying to brighten up the top of a faded and flabby family automobile with a little paint marks the death of liberty.

If the householder cannot do odd jobs about his home on Sunday he'd as well not have a home. For what is a home without some putting, to the financial middle class, or some other classes, financially, below?

And when, pray, shall a householder do his putting if not upon the Sabbath?

Saturday afternoon? Brevity forbids. The commuter hardly is at home, and into his putting clothes, before the sun dips below the horizon, and the mistress of the establishment, calls, in tone of warning and authority: "Now, John. Get ready for dinner."

Sunday is a day of rest. Psychiatrists, psychologists and plain ordinary men agree that the desk man's rest lies not in taking his ease in an easy chair, but in physical activities, out of doors, preferably, which keep him happily busy.

The American home—not that which is celebrated in rotogravure sections, but the unpretentious, ordinary, obscure, typical home—is underpinned by the putting of its owner. His putting not only provides relaxation, but also saves a neat sum in the course of a year.

USING THE PIECES

On July 1, it is understood that the United States Department of Agriculture will have available some $50,000 for research into the vital matter of what good use can be made of corn cobs, corn stalks, cotton stalks and peanut shells. It is economic far sightedness of this sort that has made Old Glory indomitable by land and sea.

Similar research has converted mountains of juiceless sugar cane fibre into paper. When a use can be found for the cast off wads of chewing gum, we shall have indeed reached the millennium.

WOULD AVOID SCRAP

One of the novel features of the proposal for a strictly "flood session" of congress is that senators-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, should be invited to stay at home. They are, of course, entitled to seek admission to the senate of the next session of congress, but it is recognized on all hands that if they did so at a special session, a controversy would immediately be provoked, and all other business indefinitely held up. One of the administration's objections to a special session before next winter is understood to be the fear that Vare-Smith affairs might frustrate the principal object of calling house and senate to Washington.

SUNDAY EVENING TEA
The dining hall of a well-known a small package with white covering is setting.

The doctor. The wife. The maid.

The Doctor: Well, this is an attractive dining room! How neat and up to date it is! All its furnishings, The polished floor, artistic chairs and tables, long French windows with soft colored hangings, not a speck of dust anywhere.

The Maid: Will you not try some cold meat? She lays at each place a plate containing one small slice of ham, one of chicken and one of roast beef.

The Doctor: I like this place particularly, because they don't overload you with food. Look at these portions delicately served, of excellent quality and not enough in any case to give you a fit of indigestion. Good food, properly served, in small quantities, is the best kind of a tonic. If one can eat a suitable quantity of such food as is being served to us, he will find in most cases that drugs and medicines will be superfluous.

The Wife: I know that is the doctrine you have been preaching these many years.

The Doctor: I wish it had been more diligently heeded by those to whom I have sermonized. Ah, here comes the maid again.

The Maid: Will you not drink some more tea? No? (She removes the plates and replaces them with dishes of rice and delicious strawberries and generous slices of the lightest, most feathered gingerbread, with just enough icing to increase its palatability.)

The Doctor: There doesn't that wind up the Sunday evening tea in good shape? No? Indigestion will follow this meal, and if people would only realize it, one of the most important keys which unlock the door of health is not medicine, though these have their place, but good, substantial food, well served, in sufficient quantity, seasoned with pleasant conversation, and agreeable surroundings, such as we are now enjoying.

The Wife: I agree with you entirely, and wish the advantage of a place like this might be multiplied to an indefinite number of persons who are in need of rest and recuperation, and a quiet mind.

The Wife: Well, suppose we consider now the requirements of the inner man or woman. Here comes the maid.

The Maid: She lays at each place a plate containing one small place to eat. What are you going to have to drink?

The Wife: Why, tea, of course. Isn't this Sunday evening tea? Is the tea as good as the rest of the things here?

The Maid: It is very good, lady.

KELLYGRAMS by FRED C. KELLY

PASSING OF THE FRONT PORCH

In driving through the smaller cities, one may note a surprising number of homes without any front porch. If there is a sun-room or screened porch, it is probably at one side, or may even be at the rear, where it commands a view of the back yard rather than the street.

Where once people wished to sit just as close as possible to the sidewalk, or at least where they could see everybody who passed along the road, they are now inclined to get away from traffic.

The change, I presume, is due, in a large measure to the automobile. Instead of being an interesting novelty traffic has become so thick that it is everywhere a nuisance. Such front porches as still exist are probably there not so much because people want them on the street, as because of the influence of habit.

A generation ago, many of the wealthy families in a small community were those who had made their money farming and moved to town. Today the wealthy classes are more likely to be those who have made their money in town and are moving to the country.

It used to be that a farm house was hard to sell unless near the road, and unless it was also fairly close to other houses. People craved the comforting feeling of having other humans near. Today when a farm is sold to a city man for a country estate, a house too near the main highway would be a disadvantage.

The automobile has not only made traffic a menace, but has given us the assurance that when lonely we can find human contacts in a jiffy. It is no longer necessary to live with shouting distance of another family in order to enjoy their society.

Probably the radio and motion pictures have also helped to show

GENERAL CARE OF THE FEET

Today I am going to speak about the general care of the feet as well as giving you a few suggestions for the home treatment of corns, calluses and perspiring feet.

Frequent foot baths are most important, both for the comfort they will bring to feet, as well as for the general daintiness of your person.

The soles of the feet and the palms of the hands have more perspiratory glands than any other part of the body, and therefore should be for the relief of corns, such as plasters, salves or liquids, as well as cure our ailments and dye our fabrics."—Dr. Felix Pinner, famous German chemist.

Foot ill, are also very painful if neglected. Ill-fitting shoes that are either too large or too small, are usually the cause of corns.

Corns are in reality a bit of cuticle or epidermis made callous by pressure. They are of three kinds: Callous spots, soft corns and cone-shaped growths. The latter form more often on the small toes, and are just called "corns."

These are the most painful, as they are usually situated so that they receive whatever pressure the shoe makes on the foot. The most important thing to do in aiding a corn of this sort is to remove the pressure. There are many reliable aids on the market for the relief of corns, such as plasters, salves or liquids, as well as cure our ailments and dye our fabrics."—Dr. Felix Pinner, famous German chemist.

FACULTY GOLFERS DEFEAT DIVISION TEAM OF ANTIOTH

Atomizing for an earlier defeat by the "A" division students, the Antioch College faculty golf team came back Thursday afternoon to defeat the students of "B" division 16-14 to 3-14 in a match over the Xenia Country Club course.

The weather was ideal for golf and seven foursomes competed in the match.

The sensation of the day was provided by D. S. H. Hanchett and O. L. Inman, of the faculty, who halved the first eight holes of the second nine.

Birdies were turned in by Ben Chapple and J. McGuire, students, and D. A. Magruder, of the faculty.

Ben Chapple and C. S. Adams, student and teacher, respectively, tied for low score of the match, each player turning in a card of eighty-six for the eighteen holes.

Scores of foursomes: Adams, Magruder, 3; Chapple, McGuire, 0; Mathewson, Steel, 3; Jenkins, Latimer, 0; Nash, Kennedy, 3; Woolridge, Pierer, 0; Inman, Hanchett, 3; Carton, Daugherty, 0; Drayne, Edison, 1; Rose, Reel, 2; Hender- son, 1-4; Wheeler, 1-4.

Scorekeeper: Gulon Osborn.

FIREMEN ORGANIZE NEW BASEBALL TEAM

Members of the Xenia Fire Department, seeking diversion, have organized a soft ball team from fourteen available players.

The fire fighters are issuing a challenge to any and all soft ball teams in the city for a game or series of games and teams in the Xenia Playground League are asked to take particular notice.

For information concerning games communicate with Herman Fisher, at the engine house.

THE BABE SHOWS HOW TO HIT A HOMER

Study these pictures if you would know just how the world's greatest home run hitter does his homering. Ruth has the same rhythm to his baseball swing as a golfer to his drive. No. 1 shows the start of the home run. Note the body windup. No. 2 shows him meeting the ball, and No. 3, the most important of all swings, the follow through, which gives the ball its merry ride. The action of the body is the Babe's all important factor in home run hitting.

JUNIOR BUSINESS MEN BEAT SENIORS IN RUNAWAY GAME

Scoring in every inning with a strong offensive, the Junior Business Men defeated the Senior Business Men 42 to 17 in a Xenia Recreation League softball game Thursday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field, and set a new league record for the highest total of runs made in one game.

By crossing the rubber forty-two times, the winners bettered the record of the Boy Scouts, who piled up forty-one runs earlier in the season against the Kiwanis.

The Senior Business men showed the way during the early rounds but could not keep up with the pace set by the winners.

The victory increased the lead of the Junior Business Men in the league to one and one-half games. The team has won five games and lost one to date.

LIVING "DEAD MAN" PUZZLES DOCTORS; IS "HUMAN OYSTER"

CAMDEN, N. J., June 10.—In the county hospital for the insane at Lakeland near here is a patient termed by physicians, a living dead man, or "a human oyster." The victim is suffering from what is probably the rarest malady known to medical science—dementia praecox catatonic. Hospital records list his identity as Joseph Kade, 28, but physicians refused to divulge his address or admit what his name really is.

Sufferers from the mysterious ailment which has puzzled medical men throughout the world—have been very few—so few that physicians have had very little opportunity to delve into the cause and cure of the disease.

Famous physicians from all over the world have visited Kade to study his case but returned home more puzzled than when they first viewed the patient. All of them, however, have come to agree that if the patient can be kept alive for six years he will recover.

Kade was taken to the Cooper hospital here last November—itself a living corpse. He was deaf, blind, paralyzed. All his nerves and muscles were numb, his jaws were so tightly locked that he had to be fed with liquids by a tube through his nostrils.

Since that time, doctors say, he has not even twitched an eyelash.

His heart action, pulse and breathing, however, are normal. Experiments of all kinds have been resorted to in an effort to rouse his numbered faculties but without result.

Physicians now agree that the only thing that can be done is to keep him alive by use of liquid nourishment for six years when he will recover the use of his nerves and muscles.

Dr. Grant Barry, chief of the department of mental diseases of the Philadelphia General Hospital has carefully diagnosed the case and predicts the man will recover if fed for six years as he is apparently in normal physical condition.

Dr. Barry, however, carefully explains that if Kade lives six years he will become possessed of super-human strength and will have to be strapped securely until he recovers.

"Needles stuck in the victim's body have no effect. Guns discharged close to his ears also failed to awaken the man. Doctors have crossed Kade's fingers, his legs and tilted his head, to return a week later and find them in the same position they left them.

NEW PARACHUTE WILL MAKE FLYING SAFER

TESTS OF THE "BALLOON TIRE" PARACHUTE SHOW REMARKABLE SUPERIORITY OVER OLD TYPE, EXPERTS REPORT. IN THE PICTURE ARE SHOWN, ABOVE, M. L. HARRISON, LEAPING FROM AIRPLANE WITH THE NEW SAFETY DEVICE; IN THE CENTER, J. M. RUSSELL, THE INVENTOR, A CLOSE-UP OF HARRISON, SHOWING THE METHOD OF ATTACHING THE CHUTE, AND BELOW, HARRISON AFTER LANDING.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 10.—

Since early boyhood, when he was a boy, he has been interested in saving lives. In Los Angeles, J. M. Russell has been interested in saving lives. In his field—aviation—a man had a single chance in time of disaster. Either his life was saved it or it wasn't.

That condition continues to prevail for men of the air. In case of a crash, fire or any other catastrophe in the air, they survive or don't.

Russell helps to avoid the "don't." He has invented a parachute which he says surpasses the official government military and naval parachute, which he helped design. His new chute opens faster, shocks the jumper less, falls more slowly, and—very important—can be so handled as to "fall away" from an attacking plane in war time.

Russell's new chute, which he "thought out" after the war while

"survived" the war, is the "right

FRIENDS CHURCH PASTOR HEADS RELIGIOUS EDUCATION BODY

The Rev. Russell Burkett, pastor, Elinor Johnson, Cedarville, sang a vocal duet. Carl Pramer, Xenia, assisted by Otis Pramer, also of this city and fifteen young men, presented "Dad's Double Victory," an educational and entertaining pageant, in the evening. The pageant was written by the Rev. Mr. Dutton, Dayton. The Rev. Mr. Young, New Burlington, led the evening devotions and special music was provided by the Spring Valley and Beaver Reformed Church Orchestras.

H. E. Bales, Paintersville, was elected first vice president; J. Harry Nagley, Xenia, second vice; William Mendenhall, Spring Valley, third; Mrs. W. O. Custis, Xenia, fourth. George Durbaugh, Xenia, was elected executive secretary; Miss Rachel Anteney, Xenia, recording secretary and Mrs. Carl Ervin, Xenia, treasurer.

The Xenia Friends Church was awarded the honor flag for having the largest delegation, thirty-four, at the convention. The Xenia U. B. Church was second, with fifteen delegates.

The officers were installed during the evening session, and the Rev. C. E. Engelhard, of the Xenia Lutheran Church, gave the dedicatory prayer. Miss Bertha Day, pastor of the Jamestown Friends Church, who has been executive secretary of the county organization, resigned to take a pastorate of a Friends Church in Illinois.

The Rev. W. N. Shank, pastor of Xenia M. E. Church, spoke on "Facts and Failure of Present Day Teaching" at the morning session, following registration, devotions by Mrs. Wayne Smith, New Burlington, and roll call. Eldora and Martha Baughn, Jamestown, gave a vocal duet and the Rev. Arthur Leaming, Beaver Reformed Church, had charge of the round table.

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, national secretary of the Anti-Cigarette Alliance of America, spoke in the afternoon, after devotions by Mrs. Emma Conner, Jamestown. Two other addresses were given in the afternoon, the second by J. L. Rogers, secretary, Montgomery County Council of Religious Education, on "A Clear Vision," and the third "The Four Fold Life," by J. Harry Nagley, Xenia. Mrs. A. C. Swinnerton, Yellow Springs, gave a vocal solo and Lucille and

NELSON SPARKS TO LEAVE POST OFFICE POSITION AT AKRON

C. Nelson Sparks, Akron postmaster, former Xenian and brother of Harry Sparks, this city, has resigned as postmaster at Akron effective July 1.

Sparks, who has held the position since May, 1921, when he was appointed by President Harding, is quitting the postal service to accept an attractive business offer.

In presenting his resignation he pointed out that under the existing law it is impossible to make postal service a life work.

Sparks is president of the Akron Agency Inc. and vice president of the North Ohio Garage Co., Akron.

He has been active in Akron civic, fraternal and social affairs and is accredited with bringing the Akron postoffice to an efficient standard after the speedy growth of the city had found the service inadequate.

His resignation was made the subject of a complimentary editorial in the Akron Beacon Journal in which it regrets his resignation and wishes him success in his new field. Sparks was formerly service director of Akron. His term as postmaster would have expired in 1929.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT CHURCH SUNDAY

The Presbyterian Church will hold its annual Children's Day festival of song and recitation next Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Mrs. James Wilson III, will be in charge of the primary department; Miss Ida Rogers, the junior department, and Mrs. A. V. Perrill, the music.

The exercises will start with a procession. The pastor, the Rev. W. H. Tilford, will have a special Children's Day address. The nature of this talk is a surprise and the parents are urged to attend. The public is invited.

Hepatic Torpidity Of Gall Stones Tells Dangers

Victims of Gall Bladder Trouble, Inactive Liver and Bowels Should Watch These Danger Signs.

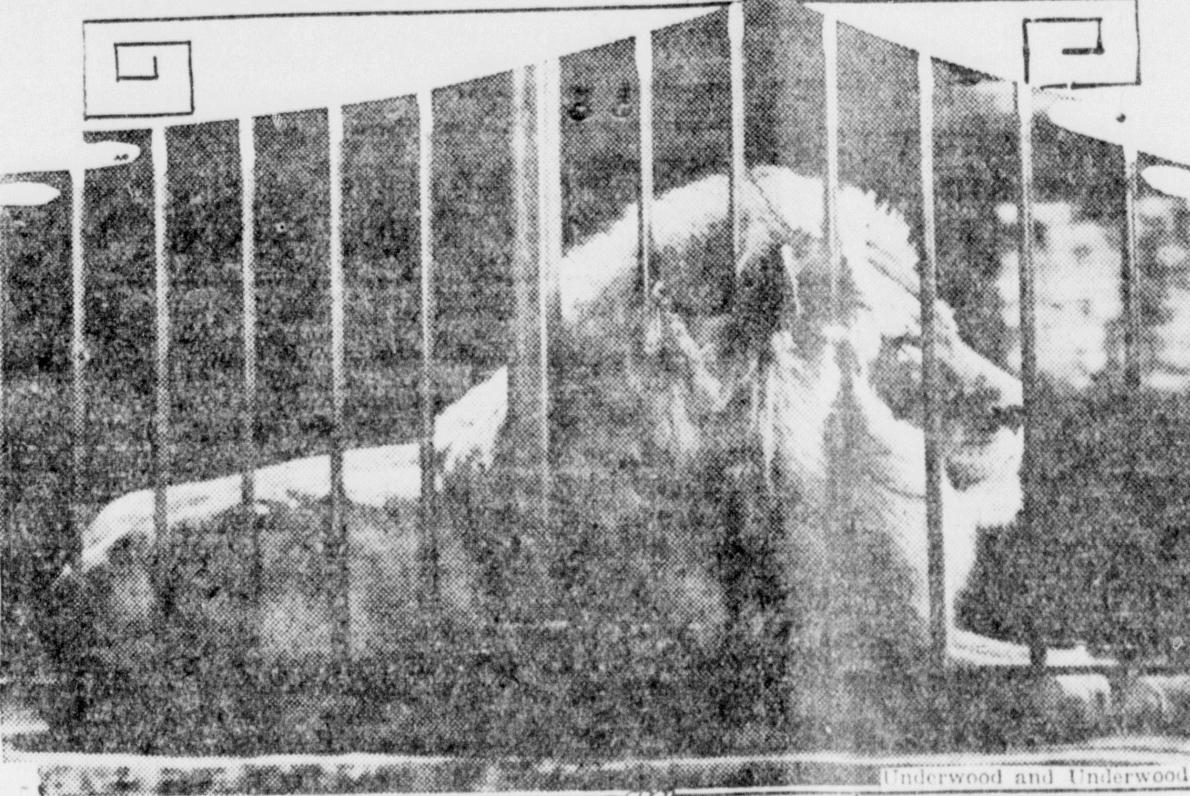

Dizziness, headache, shortness of breath, distress after eating, gas in stomach and bowels, pressure or sharp pains in right side that often shoot through to the back, coated tongue, bad breath, lack of ambition, weakness, nervousness and nights of restless misery caused by bad dreams or inability to sleep.

These are symptoms of poisonous waste matter in the system (often called auto-intoxication) indicating improper bowel action, hepatic torpidity or gall bladder trouble—and when they come to folks in middle life they should be checked at once, before the dangers of more serious ailments like gall stones and high blood pressure are developed.

In the opinion of the writer, one of the best things in the world, for conditions of this kind is the inexpensive home use of "Klux-Ko" Tablets, which Sayre's Drug Store or any other good druggist supply on a binding guarantee to repay their cost, if easily noticeable beneficial results are not obtained inside of a week! Don't wait until your entire system is polluted with poisonous waste or until gall bladder inflammation or of "B" Division of Antioch gall stones makes a dangerous operation necessary, but start the use of "Klux-Ko" Tablets today. If "Klux-Ko" does not help you, its use will not cost you a penny.

TOWNSHIP BOARD OF EDUCATION CHARGED WITH ILLEGAL ACTS

sufficient in amount. It is for $12,000 while the appointment is for nearly $20,000. The clerk of the board, whose bond, it is pointed out, is not on file with the county auditor, should see to it that the deposit does not exceed the amount of the bond, as he and his bondsmen are liable for the excess, the examiner warns.

Findings for recovery listed in the report, total $7,092.14, a part of which have been paid.

The largest item is $3,670 illegally paid John Ballantyne from September, 1924 to February 1, 1927 as instructor at Central High School.

The finding is made on the basis that the board of education has no authority to permit a teacher to teach without a certificate, either regular or substitute, and that a person who holds no certificate cannot legally be paid by the board for teaching in the schools of the district over which the board has jurisdiction.

Ballantyne had not at that time obtained his certificate in Ohio but proper steps have since been taken to certificate the instructor.

A finding was also made against Mrs. Jessie V. Wipert of $962.50, paid the teacher by the Xenia Twp. school board for eight and three-fourths months of the year 1924-25 at $110 per month. The finding is made on the basis of no service rendered.

The board has recovered findings in 1924 of $300 against J. W. Ray as part payment on a board members transportation contract of $770. The remaining $470 is still due as well as a finding made in 1924 of $2,061 against Harold Ray, son of J. W. Ray, for transportation of pupils.

The report also includes a finding of $41 against H. S. Noggle, clerk of the Spring Valley Twp. school board, to whom this amount was paid for labor under the name of Albert Hagler. It is charged payment was made to him and turned over to Noggle, a board member. This was a false certificate by the clerk and a violation of the law, the examiner charges.

George Queary, another Spring Valley board members, is also subject to a finding of $75 for rental of a gas engine in 1925. This should be returned to the school treasury at once the examiner declares, who quotes the clerk of the board as saying that the transaction was made in the name of H. W. Fudge so that Queary's name would not appear on the books of the board.

Other findings listed are against Rowena McKay, Caesarcreek Twp., $3, daughter of B. M. McKay, school board member, for enumeration; $135 against the Great American Surety Co. in Sugarcreek Twp. for liability and property damage insurance; $400 against Gordon Graf, in Sugarcreek Twp., for transportation of pupils; $210 against members of the city school board; and $5.50 against C. A. Walz, former city school superintendent, while he was serving in 1924 as clerk of the board of city school examiners.

According to the report, findings made in 1924 not yet recovered in the county school system, total $427.90 and recovered findings amount to $473.61. Findings of 1921 not yet returned total $6.60, and in 1917, $269.31. Findings returned total $6.60, and in 1917, $269.31. Findings returned since 1917 total $13.75. Illegal payments made in 1924 amount to $2,067.50.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The Rovin' Ritzies

By Flo Frederick

Not a word must he say
Until the Ritzies set the day!
The Ritzies were about to take a new member into their club. This would have been cause enough for excitement if the new member had been just an ordinary chap. As it was, Bill was the most honored boy in Mayville. Had he not saved the honor of the Ritzies by defending their colors in a championship marble game with Bob Taylor, one of Max Mason's crowd?

Although the Ritzies fully realized
how much Bill had done for them, they were not willing to tell their club secrets to someone who wasn't trustworthy, and so, though they had great confidence in Bill, they decided to put him to a test.

An older brother of the twins had told them all about college hazing and the treatment of pledges in fraternities and with this as a background they had set the stage for Bill, who had been told to appear at the carpenter shop door promptly at 3 o'clock and knock three times.

At the exact stroke of three, Bill appeared in front of the Ritzie club house door and drew a long breath before giving the described knock. Since the winning of the championship game, he had heard many tales about the Ritzies from boys of the neighborhood and though he felt very proud about being taken into the club, he was not so sure that it would be a pleasant ordeal. You never could tell what the Ritzies were likely to do. Suppose they would make him eat fish worms!

He had no sooner given his signal knock than the door was flung open and he found himself peering into a darkened room which was lighted only by one flickering candle.

"Enter the sacred clubroom of the Ritzies!" boomed out a voice which Bill decided must belong to Marty, though he couldn't make out the hooded figure in the darkness.

(Marty had thrown a shawl over his head and shoulders.) The four other figures seated on a row of canvas chairs must be the twins, Patsy and Betty Ann.

"Face the left wall and cross your arms behind you," the booming voice continued. Bill, in his anxiety, hesitated a minute, over-which was left and which was right, scarcely daring to breathe for fear of what would happen next.

"Bill Roscoe," continued the voice, "you are now facing four of the original Ritzies. The twins, whom you have known as Rag and Tag are called the Witts by the rest of us Ritzies. They have been given this name because they think up the ideas for parties and stunts for the club."

so kind to your mother.

"I think he is the tenderest, most understanding man I have ever known."

"You say, son, that you owe your life to Rod, and that you intimate it was not worth the sacrifice. Just after you went away, Rod wrote to me that he never expected to come back to America. He told me that all the joy he had ever known in his life had been in my house, and in company with you and Natlee. He wrote me that he wanted me to know that he would gladly give his life for you."

"I am quite sure, Phillip dear, if Rodney Maxwell could have had his choice, his life would have ended in just the way it did. He gave it for you—and Natlee."

"Oh, I wish you would come home, son, instead of back to the front. I am sure you could do so if you wished. A wire or two which Major Aukland and I could pull would bring you back here, at least on a furlough."

"The last three months have been a perfect nightmare, and I would rather die than go through three more like them."

"First, you must know you were reported 'missing.' Then the long wait with no news whatever, although all my friends besieged the war office."

"Dear heart, such agony I suffered. I tried to work. I tried to fill every hour of the day that nature, in self-defense, would send sleep to me at night."

"I would wake in the morning, with no other thought than of wonder as to how I was to get through another day without news of you."

"Finally I picked up a New York paper and read that you—or some one with your name—had been presented with the Croix de Guerre while you were still in the hospital."

"Major Aukland immediately got in communication with the editor of the paper, who cabled to his correspondent in Paris for more news."

"Then again endless waiting, and at last a long-delayed letter from you in which you told me a little about your wound and much of poor Rod's death, but said nothing about when you would be able to leave the hospital."

"This morning a letter came, saying you had not heard from me since you were wounded and left your regiment for the hospital, and that dreadful news that you wanted to go back into it all again."

"Phillip, why do you not come home?"

"Surely you have done enough to appease that relentless god of war."

"Surely you can now, in the future, look your grandchilden in the face."

"Surely you owe something not only to your mother but to yourself."

"Son, there are streaks of gray on your mother's head. Yesterday Major Aukland said to me, 'Anne, I have been watching those patches of white grow among the dark locks of your beautiful hair, and although I think they add distinction to your beauty—yes, son, he said beauty.' I have seen the grief and pain that put them there."

"Now that you know your boy is alive, Anne, will you not rest and smile again?"

"Phillip, you are going to like Major Aukland very much, if for no reason that he has been

FOUR MINERS KILLED WHEN ROOF OF COAL COMPANY MINE FALLS

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 10.—Four miners are dead here, and another is in a critical condition in a Welch hospital today as the result of a slate roof cave-in at the Keystone Coal and Coke Co.'s mine late Thursday.

The dead are: Joe Tatarazzo, William Braddon and Moxie Hooks, all white, and Grady Crider, negro. Henry Griffin is suffering internal injuries, two broken limbs and a crushed foot.

The men were clearing the main entry to the mine, preparatory to resuming operations today, a support was removed, releasing a fifty-ton slab of slate from the ceiling.

This is the third fatal accident in McDowell County in the past four weeks.

WILL ELECTROCUTE TWO PRISONERS AS CLEMENCY REFUSED

John Hickman And Geo. Vargo To Die In Chair

COLUMBUS, O., June 10.—Warren P. E. Thomas was making preparations at the penitentiary here today for the double electrocution tonight of John Hickman, Columbus, and George Vargo, Lake County, following the refusal of courts, the state clemency board and Gov. Donahay to intervene.

In its recommendation to the governor in Hickman's case, the board declared its unwillingness to disagree with findings of five courts, and also took into consideration the alleged confession of J. E. Long, Huntington, W. Va., suicide who according to Mrs. Cora Booth, fortune teller, told her he had killed his patrolman at Chillicothe, shortly before taking his own life.

Hickman was found guilty of the first degree murder of Dan Garrett, Chillicothe policeman. Mont Hickman, his brother, is serving a life sentence as a result of the same crime.

A board of physicians, at the request of Gov. Donahay, submitted Vargo to a mental test and declared him sane. He was convicted of killing his landlady after which his appeal was carried to the state supreme court.

Philip Orleck, alias William Fox, sentenced to die tonight for the murder of a Mansfield reformatory guard, was granted a stay of execution a few days ago, to allow the supreme court to review his case.

OHIO WOMAN DIES AT ENGLISH HOME

LONDON, June 10.—Announcement was made today of the death of Mrs. Victoria Clifton Woodhill Martin, an American woman, at her home, Bredons, Norton Park, near Cheltenham. She died last night.

Mrs. Martin was a native of Homer, Ohio, where she was born Sept. 23, 1883. She was one of the pioneers in the woman suffrage movement and in 1870 memorialized the American congress for the ballot for women. Two years later she was nominated for president of the United States by the equal rights party. She had written a number of books on social and political subjects and at the time of her death she was editor of the Humanitarian magazine in this city. Mrs. Martin was married twice, her second husband being an Englishman.

COSHOCOTON HAS SMALLPOX CASES

COSHOCOTON, O., June 10.—A third case of smallpox was reported here today, and attributed directly to Troy, O., where several hundred were exposed during a convention of the Church of the Nazarene.

Of 45 Coshocton County residents who attended services here with persons returning from Troy, forty-four have been vaccinated. One woman has refused vaccination and is under quarantine.

The smallpox patients here are Rev. A. H. Perry and wife, of the Church of the Nazarene, and Wilbur Wright, 10, son of Ray Wright, church singer, who also attended the Troy meeting.

IRISH FREE STATE WINS ELECTION

DUBLIN, June 10.—The Irish free state government, headed by President Cosgrave, is believed to have won a working majority in the general election which was held yesterday.

Due to the complexities of proportional representation the full count can not be completed before Monday, but there is confidence that the government support was strong enough to insure a working majority in the Dail.

ACES ARE HONORARY CITIZENS OF CITY; SEE METAL PLANES

Fliers Showered With Invitations To Other Capitals

BERLIN, June 10.—Thousands lined the sidewalks of Unter Den Linden today and cheered vociferously as Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine rode in state with United States Ambassador Schurman to the city hall, where the two fliers were made honorary citizens of Berlin.

A warm sun shone down on the fliers and the reception they received from the crowds was as enthusiastic as any given them since their arrival here.

Mayor Borsig received the fliers at the city hall and offered them an official welcome. He paid them high tribute for their feat in establishing a new long distance flight, and then presented them with medals from the city of Berlin commemorating the event.

Both fliers were then called upon to sign the golden book, adding their names to a long list of names which rank high in history.

Ambassador Schurman replied to the German mayor's address on behalf of the two fliers.

"Like Lindbergh, Chamberlin has shown the world by his brave deed that crossing the ocean in airplanes is possible for men of energy and determination," said the ambassador.

"The establishment of regular and safe air-service between Europe and America is the high goal to which we must now turn all our energies. The time is near when constructors will build great airplanes equipped with motors of the necessary capacity, which will make the journey in any kind of weather and provide the greatest degree of safety."

"The field is open to all nations. No one can foresee which nation may make the next step. The rivalry is certain to be keen. Let the meritorious win the prize."

Chamberlin and Levine today visited the Rohrbach Metal Airplane Co. They studied the work in progress there and displayed great interest in it.

"It was a glimpse into the future," said Chamberlin. "They are ahead of us. They have simplified all-metal construction and made it practicable. Our types are much lighter, because with us metal construction is too expensive."

Chamberlin has been given a unique honor. A brand of Bohemian beer has been named for him, which seems to make it almost certain that his name will be known in Germany long after he has departed and perhaps after greater feats have been accomplished.

PROPOSAL TO SELL MONOPOLY BEATEN

PARIS, June 10.—The chamber of deputies today rejected Premier Poincaré's proposal that the French match monopoly be sold to a Swedish firm for $50,000,000 by a vote of 281 to 243.

The measure was not one of confidence, but it is considered as a political check to the premier, and is the stiffer rebuff he has received since he took office.

The premier had asked that the monopoly be granted so that France might have the $50,000,000 available for use in negotiating a settlement of the debt to the United States.

DE PINEDO RESUMES TRIP FROM AZORES

HORTA, Azores, June 10.—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian inter-continental flyer, left Horta at 6:20 o'clock today on the continuation of his flight back home to Italy.

De Pinedo planned to return to the spot in the Atlantic Ocean several hundred miles off the Azores where he was forced down and had to leave from there for Ponta Delgada to take on fuel, then continue on his way to Lisbon. Weather conditions here were perfect.

BYRD PLANS ROUND TRIP ACROSS OCEAN

NEW YORK, June 10.—Naval Commander Richard E. Byrd, the only aviator who ever flew a plane over the North Pole, plans to outfit even Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Clarence D. Chamberlin in the way of trans-Atlantic flights. It was learned today.

Byrd intends to fly to Paris in his great tri-motor Fokker monoplane, then immediately fly back again. At the most his stay in the French capital will be scarcely more than twelve hours just enough time for the American and his fellow fliers to take a restful sleep and have the America's gasoline tanks filled up again.

Hence, if Clarence Chamberlin and his flight companion, Charles A. Levine, expect to be the first to fly from continental Europe to New York, they will have to "step out" speedily. Chamberlin and Levine now have under consideration an offer of $100,000 from William Randolph Hearst to fly from Berlin to New York.

Meanwhile, Commander Byrd has completed his final tests. His great Fokker plane has responded to a load of more than 14,500 pounds. So spectacular was this achievement to Byrd and his associates that they immediately decided to risk an additional 100 gallons of gasoline, weighing 500 pounds. She will carry a weight of 15,500 pounds—something hitherto unheard of in trans-Atlantic aviation.

Lindbergh flew off in a plane weighing gross 5,130 pounds. The Chamberlin and Levine machine weighed all over 5,400 pounds. In the America's cabin with Byrd will be Bert Acosta, one of the holders of the world's endurance record, and Lieutenant George Noville, flight engineer.

It is extremely likely that soon after Colonel Lindbergh sets foot on American soil and receives his official honors, Byrd will give the signal for his own flight.

AIR ARMADA GREETS TRANS-OCEAN HERO AS MEMPHIS NEARS

Washington In Gala Array For Arrival Of Famous Flyer

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The drone of motors of a great air armada, music to every aviator, will herald the nation's joyous home-coming for Charles A. Lindbergh today.

While the sleek cruiser Memphis was speeding in a smooth sea with the youthful hero of the New York to Paris flight, the welcoming vanguard composed of the giant dirigible Los Angeles, a dozen airplanes and six destroyers planned to set out to meet her off the Virginia capes.

Vice-Admiral Burrage wirelessed the navy department that Lindbergh, scanning the horizon from the bridge of the Memphis, would sight land early in the afternoon.

Before sundown he will be well within the waters of Chesapeake Bay with hundreds of small water craft joining in the welcome that will precede official reception by President Coolidge in behalf of the nation on Saturday.

From the Los Angeles the signal and span uniform of the new colonel in the Missouri National Guard will be dropped aboard the Memphis from Los Angeles, while the first actual contact will be established when Richard R. Blythe, a St. Louis friend, leaves a destroyer to join "Lindy" aboard the cruiser.

Saturday morning, while he is whisked off for a parade and the presentation of the distinguished flying cross by President Coolidge, a dozen skilled mechanics will begin to re-assemble the sturdy plane which carried him across the ocean and which, on Monday, will carry him to New York for a new demonstration of the nation's enthusiasm.

Meanwhile a holiday atmosphere enveloped the national capital. American flags, and occasional tricolors, Lindbergh canes and Lindbergh hats all testified to the gala spirit that presages a welcome never exceeded here.

Nor was Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of the intrepid young aviator, forgotten. Her picture was conspicuously displayed in hundreds of store windows.

Reception committees were enmeshed in a maze of details and harried by thousands demanding the dues of official position and seeking preferred seats for the ceremonies which will be conducted within the shadow of Washington monument tomorrow afternoon.

Police officials said 100,000 people would pack the gentle slopes on the monument grounds, and the constant influx of visitors prompted the police to re-assemble the sturdy plane which will be re-assembled within the shadow of Washington monument tomorrow afternoon.

State Senator Shot In Apartment Of Woman Friend

DENVER, June 10.—State Senator Albert E. Bogdon of Denver, was killed here today, victim of a shooting in the apartment of Mrs. Helen E. Minter.

Police are working on the theory the woman's husband, Joseph Minter, did the shooting. He was seen at the door of the apartment police said, shortly before the shots were heard, and afterwards, he is said to have notified police of the shooting by telephone, and then escaped.

Minter, who was in the apartment at the time of the shooting, was arrested and is being held for investigation.

When questioned by police, Mrs. Minter said she and Bogdon were in the apartment, partly clad, when someone was heard at the door. She ran to the bathroom to dress, and when she came out, she found Bogdon's body on the floor, and her husband was holding a smoking revolver.

"I ought to shoot you, too," he is said to have told her, then ran to a telephone in the hall, notified police, and disappeared.

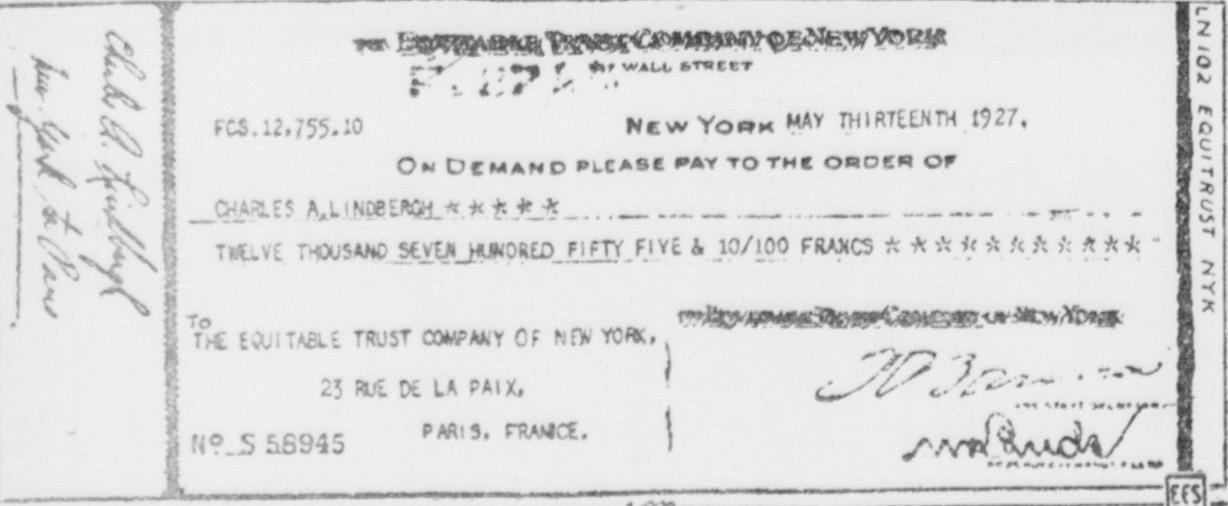

Bogdon was a law partner of City Attorney May, and a member of the Denver Civil Service Commission.

Bogdon is survived by his wife, Mrs. Adele Bogdon and a six year old daughter.

Lindbergh Flunked At College Where Motorcycle Was His Chief Hobby

THE MAN WHO WAS TO BECOME A WORLD-FAMOUS AVIATION STAR WAS JUST A RIFLE CORPS CADET WHEN THIS GROUP PICTURE WAS TAKEN AT THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN. LATER HE WAS TO CARRY TO PARIS ALONE IN A MONOPLANE. THE DRAFT REPRODUCED BELOW THE GROUP.

By HARGIS EARLYWINE
Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright 1927, MADISON, Wis., June 10.—Piecing together a sketchy but forceful picture of an adventure-loving lad who refused to write up his laboratory experiments and hence was "flunked out" of college, the few friends and associates of Charles "Lucky" Lindbergh, who knew him as an undergraduate at the University of Wisconsin, have interesting stories to tell of his college career.

Lindbergh, the son of a Minnesota congressman, arrived in Madison unannounced in the fall of 1920. His mother came along to make a home for him, and this accomplished, she obtained a teacher's position in the high school chemistry department.

Fraternities and co-eds had little appeal for him, and his chief activity came from the old motorcycle on which he took his chums on hair-raising rides. When winter came the machine's motor was placed on an ice boat, and Charley Lindbergh yelled "contact" and spun his first propeller preparatory to a skin across the ice of Lake Mendota.

Not Keen on Sports
The organized sports of the school apparently did not interest the youth, for none can be found who remember his part in them. He was, however, a member of the student military reserve, and as a freshman won honors as a crack shot on the rifle team.

The professors who guided his class destinies have but vague remembrance of Lindbergh. His class adviser tells with interest of his refusal to write up laboratory experiments with the unique explanation of "I know the work. I can't teach my teachers anything. Why should I waste good time writing up what I know?"

Lindbergh was in no respect a rebel. He was never in conflict with teacher or friend. He was just a quiet chap with a tousled mop of hair, who went about his own way in much the same manner that he started alone across the Atlantic.

During his college career he collected a few close friends—not more than a dozen—and with their companionship he was con-

Mother Makes Impression
His mother made a much more lasting impression on the community. Her principal knows her as a skilled teacher of science and an excellent disciplinarian who held the complete respect of her pupils and associates. Mrs. Lindbergh often told friends here that she believed in letting her boy live his own life, that she had given him a sound foundation of education and right living and that his future lay in his own hands.

"Charley has always lived a clean life and his judgment is usually good, so I have few worries about him," she said often.

DESPAIRED OF EVER HAVING GOOD COMPLEXION

Pimples relieved after trying well known remedy

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 31.—"My skin had been very clear up to a while ago when blackheads and then pimples developed. They spread rapidly and I was terribly annoyed. I used several suggested remedies without good results, and was disgusted and just ready to give up hope of ever having a good complexion again when I saw one of your advertisements. At the same time, a friend recommended Resinol Soap and Ointment so I began to use them. After a few applications my trouble was relieved, and I now keep these products always on hand. They are so soothing and refreshing and I find the ointment so good for the scalp and for chapped hands."—(Signed) Miss Carmel De Felice, E. 1723 Third Avenue.

FACULTY GOLFERS DEFEAT DIVISION TEAM OF ANTOCH

Atoning for an earlier defeat by the "A" division students, the Antioch College faculty golf team came back Thursday afternoon to defeat the students of "B" division 16-14 to 3-14 in a match over the Xenia Country Club course.

The weather was ideal for golf and seven foursomes competed in the match.

The sensation of the day was provided by D. S. H. Hanchett and O. L. Inman, of the faculty, who halved the first eight holes of the second nine.

Birdies were turned in by Ben Chapple and J. McQuire, students, and A. M. Magruder, of the faculty.

Ben Chapple and C. S. Adams, student and teacher, respectively, tied for low score of the match, each player turning in a card of eighty-six for the eighteen holes.

Scores of foursomes: Adams, Magruder, 3; Chapple, McQuire, 0; Mathewson, Steel, 3; Jenkins, Latimer, 0; Nash, Kennedy, 3; Woolridge, Fierst, 0; Inman, Hanchett, 3; Carton, Daugherty, 0; Drayne, Edison, 1; Rose, Reel, 2; Henderson, 1-4; Wheeler, 1-4.

Scorekeeper: Gulon Osborn.

FIREMEN ORGANIZE NEW BASEBALL TEAM

Members of the Xenia Fire Department, seeking diversion, have organized a soft ball team from fourteen available players.

The fire fighters are issuing a challenge to any and all soft ball teams in the city for a game or series of games and teams in the Xenia Playground League are asked to take particular notice.

For information concerning games communicate with Herman Fisher, at the engine house.

With the Big Leaguers—THE BABE SHOWS HOW TO HIT A HOMER

Study these pictures if you would know just how the world's greatest home run hitter does his homering. Ruth has the same rhythm to his baseball swing as a golfer to his drive. No. 1 shows the start of the home run. Note the body windup. No. 2 shows him meeting the ball, and No. 3, the most important of all swings, the follow through, which gives the ball its merry ride. The action of the body is the Babe's all important factor in home run hitting.

PAINTERSVILLE

The Ladies' Aid Society will give a festival on the church lawn, Wednesday evening, June 15. Ice cream, cake, sandwiches, coffee and strawberries will be served. Band music will be furnished. Everybody welcome.

Lindly Linton and family took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Linton, of Bowersville, Sunday.

The Vacation Bible School opened here Monday morning with an enrollment of sixty pupils ranging in age from 6 to 14 years, under the management of the Rev. Clark. Mrs. Clark has charge of the music. Other teachers of the school are Bertha Liming, who is home spending her summer vacation from the Pine Ridge Mission School, Kentucky. Miss Edna Devoe, Miss Georgia Stewart and Miss Ruth Chitty, all of Bowersville, are also teachers. The children are enjoying the school wonderfully.

Sunday School Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Children services will be held at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Clark and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Beat, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Devoe, Sunday.

John St. John and family, Jess Peterson and family and H. E. Bales and family spent Sunday with Howard Pickering and family of Port William.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Ary and Mr. and Mrs. David Faulkner attended a surprise dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mangan, of Xenia, Sunday, the event Mangan's birthday.

Will Ray and family have sold their property here and moved to Washington, C. H.

Burl Masons of Wilmington, Phoebe Armitage and daughter, Emma, and Ella Powers of Port William, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Mason Sunday afternoon.

Here's Ted Coy as he looked years ago when he was the foot-ball star of Yale, and as he looks today, a prosperous New Jersey business man.

JUNIOR BUSINESS MEN BEAT SENIORS IN RUNAWAY GAME

Scoring in every inning with a strong offensive, the Junior Business Men defeated the Senior Business Men 42 to 17 in a Xenia Recreation League soft ball game Thursday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field, and set a new league record for the highest total of runs made in one game.

By crossing the rubber forty-two times, the winners bettered the record of the Boy Scouts, who had forty-one runs earlier in the season against the Kiwanis.

The Senior Business men showed the way during the early rounds but could not keep up with the pace set by the winners.

The victory increased the lead of the Junior Business Men in the league to one and one-half games. The team has won five games and lost one to date.

R. Finlay and Pancake knocked out home runs.

LIVING "DEAD MAN" PUZZLES DOCTORS; IS "HUMAN OYSTER"?

CAMDEN, N. J., June 10.—In the county hospital for the insane at Lakeland near here is a patient termed by physicians, a living dead man, or "a human oyster." The victim is suffering from what is probably the rarest malady known to medical science—dementia praecox catatonic. Hospital records list his identity as Joseph Kade, 28, but physicians refused to divulge his address or admit what his name really is.

Sufferers from the mysterious ailment which has puzzled medical men throughout the world—have been very few—so few that physicians have had very little opportunity to delve into the cause and cure of the disease.

Famous physicians from all over the world have visited Kade to study his case—but returned home more puzzled than when they first viewed the patient. All of them, however, have come to agree that if the patient can be kept alive for six years he will recover.

Kade was taken to the Cooper hospital here last November—it really a living corpse. He was deaf, blind, paralyzed. All his nerves and muscles were numb, his jaws were so tightly locked that he had to be fed with liquids by a tube through his nostrils.

Since that time, doctors say, he has not even twitched an eyelash. His heart action, pulse and breathing, however, are normal. Experiments of all kinds have been resorted to in an effort to rouse his numbed faculties but without result.

Physicians now agree that the only thing that can be done is to keep him alive by use of liquid nourishment for six years when he will recover the use of his nerves and muscles.

Dr. Grant Barry, chief of the department of mental diseases of the Philadelphia General Hospital has carefully diagnosed the case and predicts the man will recover if fed for six years as he is apparently in normal physical condition.

Dr. Barry, however, carefully explains that if Kade lives six years he will become possessed of super-human strength and will have to be strapped securely until he recovers.

Needles stuck in the victim's body have no effect. Guns discharged close to his ears also failed to awaken the man. Doctors have crossed Kade's fingers, his legs and tilted his head, to return a week later and find them in the same position they left them.

AWARD CONTRACTS

The L. B. Cavett Co., Wyoming, O., was the low bidder and received the contract for three projects of surface treating of highways in Greene, Clinton and Montgomery Counties. The contract was awarded at Columbus.

Highways included in the contract are the Xenia-Wilmington Pike in Greene County, 8.40 miles, and 7.23 miles of the same road in Clinton County. The total mileage is 27.73 and must be completed July 30.

NEW PARACHUTE WILL MAKE FLYING SAFER

HARRISON, LEAPING FROM AIRPLANE WITH THE NEW SAFETY DEVICE; IN THE CENTER, J. M. By J. S. PHILLIPS
Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright 1927
SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 10.—Since early boyhood, when he played around automotive plants in Los Angeles, J. M. Russell has been interested in saving lives. In his field—aviation—a man had a single chance in time of disaster. Either his life was saved it or it wasn't.

That condition continues to prevail for men of the air. In case of a crash, fire or any other catastrophe in the air, they survive or don't.

Russell helps to avoid the "don't." He has invented a parachute which he says surpasses the official government military and naval parachute, which he helped design. His new chute opens faster, shocks the jumper less, falls more slowly, and—very important—can be so handled as to "fall away" from an attacking plane in war time.

Russell's new chute, which he "thought out" after the war while

Holds Jumper Steady

In his new lobe chute, the jumper does not act as a pendulum in a wind and swing about. Sometimes jumpers have nearly looped the loop in this way, almost falling on top of their own chute rather than under it. Through the lobe compensation, "absorbing" the wind, the jumper remains directly below it.

Again, due to its construction, there is no vent in the center of the chute for wind to pass through. But a cord attaches to the center of the top, and by pulling this and collapsing the chute, one may "fall away" from the pursuing enemy as rapidly as a plummet may drop. The fall becomes normal again by permitting the chute to fill again with air.

And third, naval fliers in tests here discovered that the chute may be used safely from a distance of only eighty feet above the ground. This lessens the low altitude menace.

The chute, when inflated in the air, looks much like a balloon tire.

Where a decade ago parachutes interested only military and naval men, today, with the growth of commercial aviation, there has come about a wide demand for them.

One danger, say airmen, in dropping from a disabled or burning plane, lies in the possibility that the ship will continue in a downward circle and strike the jumper. This, of course, means certain death.

Makes Flying Safe

In his perfection of a chute which can be "dropped" by pulling the center cord, Russell believes he has made a considerable and permanent contribution to the safety of aviation.

No Truth In This---AT ALL!!

Since I have taken over this job of Press Agenting for this company I find that at times it is necessary to go far afield for ideas to keep you folks out front interested and entertained.

It has always been a rule heretofore that "Truth In Advertising" was most important and that at no time must I stretch the truth or vary in the smallest degree from the strict FACTS!

Up until today I have adhered savagely to this law but NOW I INTEND to cut LOOSE and give you some information which is so impossible and nutty that not even the dumbest person in Greene County will believe it! Here it is:

It is the intention of Carroll and Binder to put on the market at a very early date an entirely new conception of TIRES! It will be of a very secret and marvelous construction so that when the driver gets his car up to a speed in excess of 45 miles an hour his car will LIFT FROM THE ROAD and from then on JUST FLY! Like an airplane!

Such a TIRE will do entirely away WITH FRICTION and as a result will last for years and years! It is expected that Carroll and Binder will have an EXCLUSIVE sort of AIR to fill these TIRES so that once you buy a set it at once becomes necessary to get your AIR from this firm! THAT'S where they are going to make their money!

These TIRES will cost somewhat MORE than the usual TIRES but what does THAT

FRIENDS CHURCH PASTOR HEADS RELIGIOUS EDUCATION BODY

The Rev. Russell Burkett, pastor of the Xenia Friends Church, was elected president of the Greene County Council of Religious Education at the forty-sixth annual convention at the Spring Valley Friends Church Thursday.

H. E. Bales, Painters, was elected first vice president; J. Harry Nagley, Xenia, second vice; William Mendenhall, Spring Valley, third; Mrs. W. O. Custis, Xenia, fourth. George Durnbaugh, Xenia, was elected executive secretary; Miss Rachel Ankeney, Xenia, recording secretary and Mrs. Carl Ervin, Xenia, treasurer.

The Xenia Friends Church was awarded the honor flag, for having the largest delegation, thirty-four, at the convention. The Xenia U. B. Church was second, with fifteen delegates.

The officers were installed during the evening session, and the Rev. C. E. Engelhardt of the Xenia Lutheran Church, gave the dedicatory prayer. Miss Bertha Day, pastor of the Jamestown Friends Church, who had been executive secretary of the county organization, resigned to take a position of a Friends Church in Illinois.

The Rev. W. N. Shanks, pastor of Xenia M. E. Church, spoke on "Facts and Failure of Present Day Teaching" at the morning session following registration. Devotions by Mrs. Wayne Smith, New Burlington, and roll call. Edora and Martha Baughn, Jamestown, gave a vocal duet and the Rev. Arthur Leaming, Beaver Reformed Church, had charge of the round table.

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, national secretary of the Anti-Cigarette Alliance of America, spoke in the afternoon, after devotions by Mrs. Emma Conner, Jamestown. Two other addresses were given in the afternoon, the second by J. L. Rogers, secretary, Montgomery County Council of Religious Education, on "A Clear Vision," and the third "The Four Fold Life," by J. Harry Nagley, Xenia. Mrs. A. C. Swinnerton, Yellow Springs, gave a vocal solo and Lucille and

C. Nelson Sparks, Akron postmaster, former Xenian and brother of Harry Sparks, this city, has resigned as postmaster at Akron effective July 1.

Sparks, who has held the position since May, 1921, when he was appointed by President Harding, is quitting the postal service to accept an attractive business offer. In presenting his resignation, he pointed out that under the existing law it is impossible to make postal service a life work.

Sparks is president of the Akron Agency Inc., and vice president of the North Ohio Garage Co., Akron. He has been active in Akron civic, fraternal and social affairs and is accredited with bringing the Akron post office to an efficient standard after the speedy growth of the city had found the service inadequate.

His resignation was made the subject of a complimentary editorial in the Akron Beacon-Journal in which it regrets his resignation and wishes him success in his new field. Sparks was formerly service director of Akron. His term as postmaster would have expired in 1929.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT CHURCH SUNDAY

Hepatic Torpidity Of Gall Stones Tells Dangers

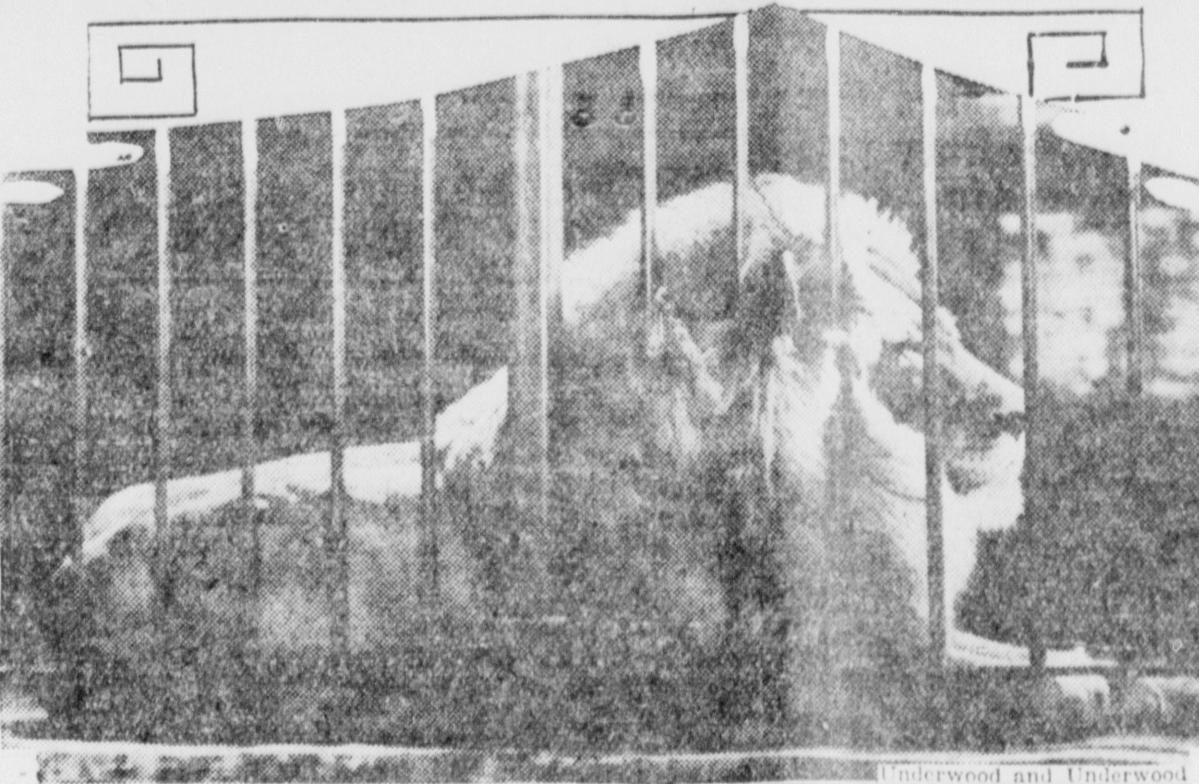

Victims of Gall Bladder Trouble, Inactive Liver and Bowels Should Watch These Danger Signs.

Dizziness, headache, shortness of breath, distress after eating, gas in stomach and bowels, pressure or sharp pains in right side that often shoot through to the back, coated tongue, bad breath, lack of ambition, weakness, nervousness and nights of restless misery caused by bad dreams or inability to sleep.

These are symptoms of poisonous waste matter in the system (often called auto-intoxication) indicating improper bowel action, hepatic torpidity or gall bladder trouble—and when they come to folks in middle life they should be checked at once, before the dangers of more serious ailments like gall stones and high blood pressure are developed.

In the opinion of the writer, one of the best things in the world, for conditions of this kind is the inexpensive home use of "Klux-Ko" Tablets, which Sayre's Drug Store or any other good druggist supply on a binding guarantee to refund their cost, if easily noticeable beneficial results are not obtained inside of a week! Don't wait until your entire system is polluted with poisonous waste or until gall bladder inflammation or even of "B" Division of Antioch gall stones makes a dangerous operation necessary, but start the use of "Klux-Ko" Tablets today. If "Klux-Ko" does not help you, its use will not cost you a penny.

sufficient in amount. It is for $12,000 while the appointment is for nearly $20,000. The clerk of the board, whose bond, it is pointed out, is not on file with the county auditor, should see to it that the deposit does not exceed the amount of the bond, as he and his bondsmen are liable for the excess, the examiner warns.

Findings for recovery listed in the report, total $7,092.14, a part of which have been paid.

The largest item is $3,670 illegally paid John Ballantyne from September, 1924 to February 1, 1927 as instructor at Central High School.

The finding is made on the basis that the board of education has no authority to permit a teacher to teach without a certificate either regular or substitute, and that person who holds no certificate cannot legally be paid by the board for teaching in the schools of the district over which the board has jurisdiction.

Ballantyne had not at that time obtained his certificate in Ohio but proper steps have since been taken to certificate the instructor.

A finding was also made against Mrs. Jessie V. Wipert of $962.50, paid the teacher by the Xenia Twp. school board for eight and three-fourths months of the year 1924-25 at $110 per month. The finding is made on the basis of no service rendered.

The board has recovered findings in 1921 of $300 against J. W. Ray as part payment on a board members transportation contract of $770. The remaining $470 is still due as well as a finding made in 1924 of $2,061 against Harold Ray, son of J. W. Ray, for transportation of pupils.

The report also includes a finding of $41 against H. S. Noggle, clerk of the Spring Valley Twp. school board, to whom this amount was paid for labor under the name of Albert Hagler. It is charged payment was made to him and turned over to Noggle, a board member. This was a false certificate by the clerk and a violation of the law, the examiner charges.

George Querry, another Spring Valley board members, is also subject to finding of $75 for rental of a gas engine in 1925. This should be returned to the school treasury at once the examiner declares, who quotes the clerk of the board as saying that the transaction was made in the name of H. W. Fudge so that Querry's name would not appear on the books of the board.

Other findings listed are against Rowena McKay, Caesarcreek Twp., $3, daughter of B. M. McKay, school board member, for embezzlement; $435 against the Great American Surety Co. in Sugarcreek Twp. for liability and property damage insurance; $400 against Gordon Graf, in Sugarcreek Twp., for transportation of pupils; $210 against members of the city school board; and $5.50 against C. A. Walitz, former city school superintendent, while he was serving in 1924 as clerk of the board of city school examiners.

According to the report, findings made in 1924 not yet recovered in the county school system, total $427.90 and recovered findings amount to $473.61. Findings of 1921 not yet returned total $6,60, and in 1917, $269.31. Findings returned total $6,60, and in 1917, $269.31. Findings returned since 1917 total $13.75. Illegal payments made in 1924 amount to $2,067.50.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The Rovin' Ritzies

By Flo Frederick

Not a word must he say. Until the Ritzies set the day! The Ritzies were about to take a new member into their club. This would have been cause enough for excitement if the new member had been just an ordinary chap. As it was, Bill was the most honored boy in Mayville. Had he not saved the honor of the Ritzies by defending their colors in a championship marble tournament.

During this long speech of Marty's Bill had remained motionless with his hands crossed behind him. What he was thinking of whether or not he was frightened, the Ritzies could not tell for outwardly he seemed as calm as during the marble tournament.

"There are three characteristics of a Ritzie that you should know," continued Marty. "They are these: A Ritzie never tells tales.

"A Ritzie is a good sport."

"A Ritzie secret is always kept."

"Now, in consideration of the fact that you are to soon become a member of the Ritzie club, this organization would like to make one request, the fulfillment of which may prove your worthiness of becoming a member. I request that for two days you speak to no one but members of your family except for the necessary talking you must do at school. At recess, on the way home, or at any other time of the day, you are not to speak to a boy or girl of your acquaintance. Under no circumstances are you to answer questions or give information of any kind. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir" came the quiet answer. "Then you are excused! At the end of the second day you will be given a note bearing further instructions."

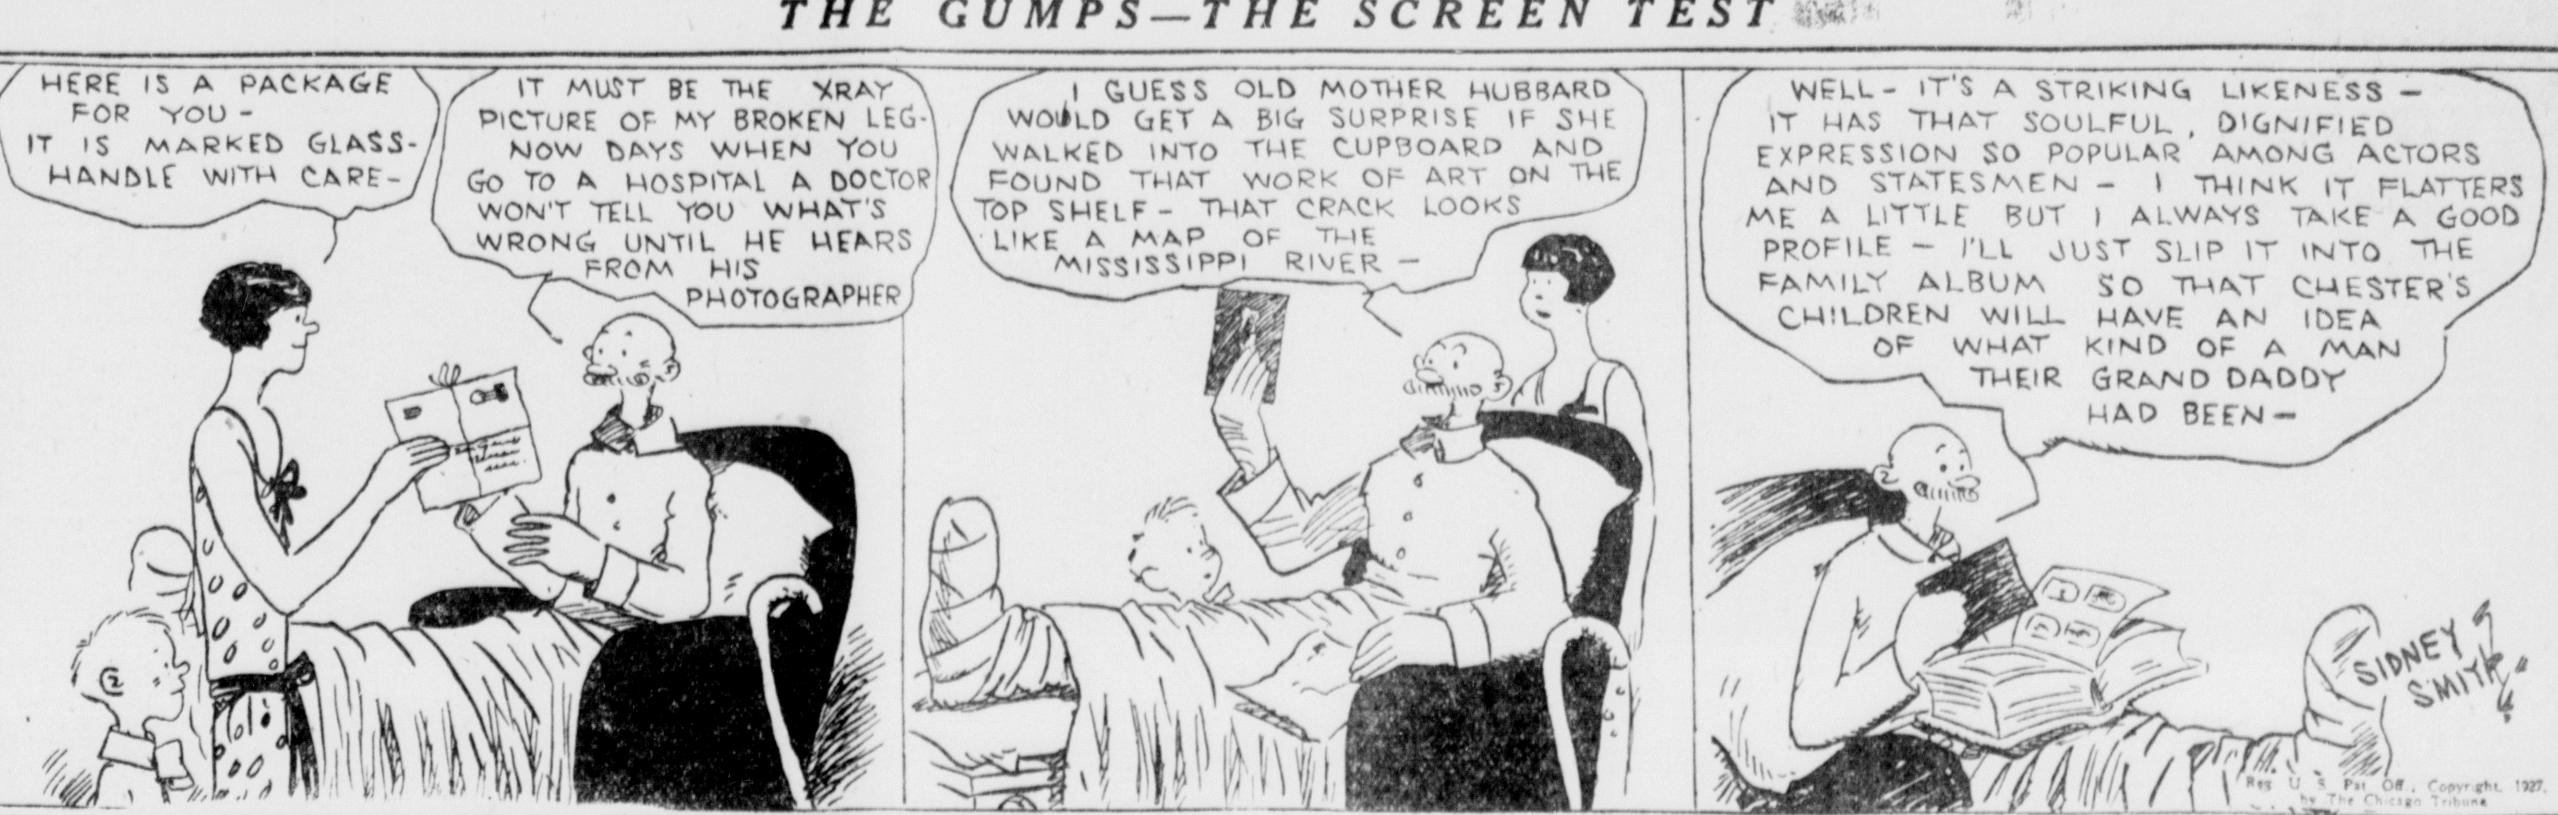

"The Ritzies!" boomed out a voice which Bill decided must belong to Marty, though he couldn't make out the hooded figure in the darkness. (Marty had thrown a shawl over his head and shoulders.) The four other figures seated on a row of canvas chairs must be the twins, Patsy and Betty Ann.

"Face the left wall and cross your arms behind you," the booming voice continued. Bill, in his anxiety, hesitated a minute, over which was left and which was right, scarcely daring to breathe for fear of what would happen next!

"Bill Roscoe," continued the voice, "you are now facing four of the original Ritzies. The twins, whom you have known as Rag and Tag are called the Wittys by the rest of us Ritzies. They have been given this name because they think up the ideas for parties and stunts for the club."

WILFUL ABSENCE IS CHARGED IN COURT; OTHER COURT NEWS

Charging wilful absence from home for more than three years, Adam Watkins has brought suit for divorce from Grace F. Watkins in Common Pleas Court. They were married in October, 1920. No children were born of the marriage. Defendant deserted him August 6, 1923, and has remained wilfully absent ever since, plaintiff sets forth.

NOTE SUIT FILED
The Xenia Farmers Exchange Co., through Attorney Frank H. Dean, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against George Grotendick for recovery of $1,500, alleged due on a promissory note.

SALE ORDERED

Appraisal of property at $1,250 was approved and its sale at private sale ordered by the court in the case of Martha J. Reeves, administratrix of the estate of E. B. Reeves, deceased, against Mrs. Lita Reeves Parker and others in Probate Court.

ESTATE VALUED
Gross value of the estate of the late Mary Elizabeth Wolford is placed at $18,739.93 in Probate Court, composed as follows: personalty, $3,739.93, and real estate, $15,000. Debts amount to $1,586.93 and the cost of administration will be $341.70, leaving a net value of $16,811.25.

"Son, there are streaks of gray on your mother's head."

so kind to your mother.

"I think he is the tenderest, most understanding man I have ever known."

"I could not—I would not—have lived all through this awful time that you have been away, had it not been for him."

"You say, son, that you owe your life to Rod, and that you intimate it was not worth the sacrifice. Just after you went away, Rod wrote to me that he never expected to come back to America. He told me that all the joy he had ever known in his life had been in my house and in company with you and Natalee. He wrote me that he wanted me to know that he would gladly give his life for you."

"I am quite sure, Phillip dear, if Rodney Maxwell could have had his choice, his life would have ended in just the way it did. He gave it for me and Natalee."

"Oh, I wish you would come home, son, instead of back to the front. I am sure you could do so if you wished. A wire or two which Major Aukland and I could pull would bring you back here, at least on a furlough."

"Oh, God, will this war never end?"

"That young Jerome Kenyon who used to be so attentive to Lucia Randolph has gone in partnership with Natalee Jones' father. They are going into the manufacture of condensed milk on a large scale."

"Things are changing very fast over here, Phillip, and I know you will see it upon your return."

"Mr. Jones, I know, is very anxious to have Natalee marry Jerome. Her Aunt Julia told me that he would like to have her do it before we go."

"What Natalee thinks about it all I do not know."

"I do not see Natalee very often, for, of course, you know I am in Washington most of the time, but I receive her frequent newsy letters in which she says nothing of herself."

"All during the time you were missing, however, I talked to her every day via long distance."

"I have grown very fond of Natalee, Phil. I hope nothing will come between you and her. She still holds me aloof, though, dear, and has never confided in me what her feelings are in regard to you."

"She holds tenaciously to the idea that I gave my consent to your enlisting in the war because I was afraid if you stayed at home you might be captured."

"Then again endless waiting, and at last a long-delayed letter from you in which you told me a little about your wound and much of poor Rod's death, but said nothing about when you would be able to leave the hospital."

"This morning a letter came, saying you had not heard from me since you were wounded and left your regiment for the hospital, and that dreadful news that you wanted to go back into it all again."

"Phillip, why do you not come home?"

"Surely you have done enough to appease that relentless god of war."

"Surely you can now, in the future, look your grandchildren in the face."

"Surely you owe something not only to your mother but to yourself."

"Son, there are streaks of gray on your mother's head. Yesterday Major Aukland said to me, 'Anne, I have been watching those patches of white grow among the dark locks of your beautiful hair, and although I think they add distinction to your beauty—yes, son, he said beauty—ye, I have seen, son, the grief and pain that is in them there.'

"Now that you know your boy is alive, Anne, will you not rest and smile again?"

"PHILLIP, you are going to like Major Aukland very much, if for no reason than that he has been
